Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 16 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mainly cloudy on Wednesday, rain for some.

Today:
A largely cloudy start to Wednesday with outbreaks of light rain and drizzle, mainly in the north and west. Winds easing. Becoming gradually drier and brighter later, feeling warm in the south. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
Mostly dry this evening with hazy sunshine. Becoming increasingly cloudy from the south overnight as heavy thundery showers move north, lasting until dawn. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Thursday:
The area of heavy thundery showers with hail and gusty winds will continue to move north on Thursday morning. Becoming mainly dry but probably cloudy in the afternoon. Warm. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Further bands of heavy thundery showers will move northwards at times during Friday and Sunday, but with dry and occasionally sunny periods initially on Friday, then Saturday afternoon.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.